The manuscript should be typed on standard-sized paper and have the author's name on each page and numbered. A cover letter, giving permission from the author to publish the material in the Quest, should accompany the manuscript. Restrictions of any kind may not be placed on material to be published.

The Editor welcomes manuscripts on computer disk, in Microsoft Word, Microsoft Works or ASCII text format. Only 3 ½" size disks can be accepted. Manuscripts on disk will not be published without accompanying hardcopy of the data to assure correct transfer of data.

When sending photocopies of original old manuscripts, such as handwritten Bible records, send a typed transcript from which we can work. Writing is much clearer on the original in your possession than on a photocopy. The Editorial staff will make the final decision on material to be published.

Dear ECGS Members,

The year 2000 is here and thankfully the Y2K bug was put to rest...permanently. We now have Spring to look forward to and it appears to be right around the corner. This will bring new life and beautiful colors for all us to enjoy. Maybe one of your ancestors that has been hibernating will pop up as well. I have been searching for my great great grandmother for at least 10 years and finally found information on her and her family line just recently. Perseverance paid off!!

I would like to strongly encourage your participation in our indexing projects. If you could give just one Monday evening or possibly one Wednesday during the day per month, it would be wonderful. Those of us coming right now have a good time and this would give you a chance to meet other members. There are several different projects started...old land records, divorces, court proceedings, and old newspapers just to name a few. We also need people willing to type up the handwritten information into an excel worksheet. Just remember, these projects are being done to better serve you, our members, as well as the non-members who visit the society office. This is YOUR society and it needs your support. We don't like to beg, but remember the old saying, "many hands make light work".

We have a great line-up of speakers for the upcoming monthly meetings. They include Bill Korroch talking on how to search the internet and get the information you want. Mary Griffes will give us an update on the holdings at the LDS Library and Jim LaLone from Mid-Michigan Genealogical Society. Hope to see you at the meetings.

DON'T FORGET.....Our ECGS annual workshop is scheduled at the Holiday Inn South on May 6th with Dr. George Schweitzer and Shirley Hodges as our speakers. A great time will be had by all and trust me, you won't want to miss it.

Other workshops/seminars coming up over the next few months that may interest you are (1) The Ohio Genealogical Society's annual seminar is scheduled for April 7 & 8 in Cincinnati and (2) Allen County is sponsoring a seminar in Ft. Wayne on July 20-22.

Thanks once again to Drouscella Halsey, the Quest Editor for her diligence in getting another edition out to the members.

Happy Spring to each of you...

Sue Polhamus

ECGS Call 300.2

Eaton County Quest

Sunfield Township
by Mary Jean Baker

Originally known as Burnstown the early settlers included Andrew P. Burns from Wood County, Ohio, along with his wife, Margaret Burns. Also, the Peter Bair family, James E. Smith, first postoffice in 1858, Henry Knapp and Jay Ugg were among the first in Burnstown.

Burnstown, which was half a mile south of present day Sunfield, was clustered around the intersection of today's M-43 and Sunfield Road.

In 1887 it was apparent that the Detroit, Lansing, and Northern railroad would cut through half mile north, so immediately a new village was platted and Sunfield was named for the township.

Those Burnstown people moved their houses and businesses to the new site. The Village of Sunfield was born.

Early settlers in the new Sunfield included the Hoyts, Peter Kinne, Abram Chatfield and Samuel Wolcott.

Sunfield's economy was soon boosted with the railroad but places like Bismark, Shaytown, and Clinton Junction, as well as Sebewa (across the Ionia County line) were overlooked.

The largest building in Sunfield, by 1890, was the brick three-story Cheetham House Hotel.

Salesman and peddlers usually stopped over in Sunfield.

Other business in 1890 were four general stores, a livery stable, wagonmaker, harness shop, two drug stores, two meat markets, two tonsorial parlors (barber), several saloons, hardware, a millinery shop, two sawmills, a grist mill grain elevator, three physicians and an undertaker.

One of the two early newspapers in Sunfield, The Gospel Sun was published by Clement J. Strang, son of James Jesse Strang. If you aren't familiar with Beaver Island's self-proclaimed "King" of the Mormons, may I suggest some winter reading of Crown of Glory, by Riegel, The King Strang Story, by Fitzpatrick, or A Child of the Sea, by Elizabeth Whitney Williams. All three present a good history of the Mormons on Beaver Island with a mix of Irish family history. (check library inter-loan to find copies)

Growing as fast as Sunfield did, it became incorporated as a village in 1899. The first President was Joel H. Bera. In 1892 a local newsman proclaimed Sunfield "The biggest little town in the world, for its' size."

Historically, Sunfield is proud that Henry Ford came to town and purchased the grist mill's big engines and hitching rails that lined Main Street. These items were incorporated in Greenfield Village and Museum in Dearborn, MI.

Eaton County Quest

The most interesting aspect of Sunfield today is the G.A.R. Hall on Main Street. Built in 1899 by Civil War Veterans of the Samuel W. Grinnell Post #283, the lumber was cut on site. The building now serves as a museum of Civil War and local history. Each veteran brought a straight-backed chair from home, painted his name, rank and outfit on the back, and when he died, the date of death was added. These chairs are still being used today when folks attend meetings at the G.A.R. Hall

Just outside the hall are two huge cannons mounted on cement platforms which bear the names of the members. Three Maple trees and markers are dedicated to General Grant, General Sherman, and General Sheridan.

A time capsule was buried in 1976 in honor of the bicentennial and a historical marker was dedicated for the hall.

This is the only G.A.R. building in Michigan that was built by the veterans themselves and has been in continuous ownership and use by the G.A.R. and the Sons of Union Veterans since. The Helen Edwins Tent #30 and the Daughters of Union Veterans, plus local organizations assist in the upkeep.

The oldest building in Sunfield is the wood frame school, built in 1851 and used until 1893. It is a dwelling.

The early post offices were located in the homes of the postmaster. Later, the postmaster was a store keeper and the post office was in his store. Some very early postmasters were:

1855 Samuel Grinnell
1856 Benjamin E. Rich
1857 William Tunison
1862 William Sackett
1863 Cornelius VanHouten
1864 Mrs. Susan Hammond
1865 Cornelius Jackson
1867 Orrin M. Wells
1871 William Friend (first postoffice to be in a store)
1879 William Dailey
1880 Valentine Meyers
1882 Riley Wilson
1885 Edgar Stinchcomb

The rest were in the Village of Sunfield.

H. M. Garrison, Lewis Lemmon, William E. Vanandi, John Palmer, Joel H. Bera, Paul Palmer, Ralph Wiggins, and Archie Stinchcomb.
This list bring us up to 1940.

The Eaton County Genealogy Library has a copy of "Sunfield Town & Country, the First 100 Years", a list of marriages by Methodist Ministers in Sunfield (Eaton Co.) & Sebewa (Ionia Co.) from 1896-1927 and a history of the Sunfield Fire Dept. 1900-1976. Call 543-8792.

Census Day

It was the first day of census, and all through the land each pollster was ready..... a black book in hand.

He mounted his horse for a long dusty ride, his book and some quills were tucked close by his side.

A long winding ride down a road barely there, toward the smell of fresh bread wafting, up through the air.

The woman was tired, with lines on her face and wisps of brown hair she tucked back into place. She gave him some water.....as they sat at the table and she answered his questions.....the best she was able.

He asked her of children. Yes, she had quite a few---the oldest was twenty, the youngest not two.

She held up a toddler with cheeks round and red, his sister, she whispered, was napping in bed. She noted each person who lived there with pride, and she felt the faint stirrings of the wee one inside. He noted the sex, the color, the age....the marks from the quill soon filled up the page.

At the number of children, she nodded her head and saw her lips quiver for the three that were dead. The places of birth she "never forgot" was it Kansas ? or Utah ? or Oregon...or not ? They came from Scotland, of that she was clear, but she wasn't quite sure just how long they'd been here.

They spoke of employment, of schooling and such, they could read some.....and write some....thought really not much. When the questions were answered, his job there was done so he mounted his horse and he rode toward the sun. We can almost imagine his voice loud and clear, "May God bless you all for another ten years."

Now picture a time warp....it's now you and me as we search for the people on our family tree. We squint at the census and scroll down so slow as we search for that entry from long, long ago. Could they only imagine on that long ago day that the entries they made would effect us this way ?

If they knew would they wonder at the yearning we feel and the searching that makes them so increasingly real. We can hear if we listen the words they impart through their blood in our veins and their voice in our heart.

NOTE:

This has been a good week for commencing divorce cases, at least a good many have been commenced four, a pretty good record for six days. July 26 Henrietta J. Stuart filed a bill in chancery asking to be divorced from her husband James Stuart. She has in her bill of complaint that she was married to James May 15, 1882, that about April 23, 1885 James deserted her and has not since been to see her or showed any disposition to return to her. She also asks that she may take her maiden name which was Henrietta J. Cole. On the same day Eva E. Chaplain, of Grand Ledge, filed a bill for divorce alleging that the husband she married, April 23, 1883 had become an habitual drunkard and treated her in a cruel manner. They lived together continually until November 1-, 1888, when his treatment towards her became so cruel that she could no longer live with him. March 24, 1884, Horace D. Scott took unto himself a wife, now the woman he promised to love, honor, and protect comes into court and says that soon after their marriage he began treating her in a cruel and inhuman manner and continued such treatment until the third day of March when he left her and went to Ohio. Hiram W. Phillips, of Grand Ledge, asks for a divorce from the woman he married November 1, 1867. For twenty-two years they lived and cohabited together, or until about the 20th of June when she "willfully deserted and absented herself from your orator, without any reasonable cause, for the space of two years and upwards, and has persisted in such desertion, and yet continues to absent herself from your orator."

Definitions for Old Terms

in-laws: Terms like father-in-law, Mother-in-law, etc. had the same meaning as they do today, which is a kinship by marriage. However, they may also have had different meanings. Father-in-law could refer to a step-father, son-in-law to a stepchild, etc.

Cousin: The term "cousin" was once used generally to indicate almost ANY DEGREE OF RELATIONSHIP BY BLOOD OR MARRIAGE OUTSIDE THE IMMEDIATE FAMILY. VERY EARLY IN AMERICAN HISTORY THE TERM WAS USED TO REFER TO NEPHEW OR NIECE. When you see the word cousin used in early records, you will need to do more research to clarify the relationship between the two people.

Nephew: The terms nephew and niece were not in common use in the colonies until before the mid-eighteenth century (i.e. 1750's). The term cousin was used to denote this relationship. In rare instances, the term "nephew" was used to mean grandson or granddaughter because the word comes from the Latin term for "grandson" or "nepos." During this early period, "nephew" was used for males and females.

Brother: This term was used very generally and in addition to its obvious meaning, could denote a brother-in-law, a husband of a sister-in-law, a half-brother, a stepbrother, or even a colleague within the church.

"My now wife.": This term is sometimes found in a will and may, as is often assumed, indicate the testator had a former wife, but this is not necessarily so unless he is referring to children by a first wife and children by his current or "now" wife. When the term is used WITHOUT reference to children, it more usually means the testator intends the bequest for his current wife and not any subsequent he may have.

Senior and Junior: Terms to denote two men with the same name in the same community, regardless of any relationship. This could be father and son, Uncle and nephew, or two men not related at all. Upon the death of the "Senior" the junior could be dropped or if another, younger person had the same name, Junior became Senior, etc.

Natural Son or Natural Daughter: Indicates a blood relationship as distinguished from a relationship by marriage or adoption. Sometimes it could denote an illegitimate child, though it was more common to refer to such as "my base son" or "my bastard son". In some instances, "my natural child" may indicate children by a first wife as opposed to children by a current.

Aliases: This term could mean one of several things. An orphan may have used his stepfather's surname in addition to his own. A married man may have taken the surname of his wealthy father-in-law. One son in a family may have taken his mother's maiden name, especially when inheriting property from her family. One branch of the family may have used an alias to distinguish it from other branches in the area where the name was common. A person may have used an alias to distinguish himself from several uncles and cousins with the same name. This problem was not unusual in large families before the use of middle names was adopted. In some cases, an alias indicated illegitimacy. Because of all the possible reasons for the use of an alias, do not assume the reason until you have done further research.

Given Names: Although you cannot count on it, it was common for the two eldest sons to be named for their grandfathers and two eldest daughters to be named for their grandmother. Don't be confused by finding two children with the same given name in the same family. The name of a deceased child may have been given to a subsequent child. IN GERMAN ANCESTRY it was common for ALL sons to have the first name Johann and ALL daughters to have the first name Anna or Maria. The children were known by their second names.

Clues to maiden names: Nothing will give greater clues to maiden names, than the witnesses to old wills. In the lower left hand corner of most deeds, you will find signatures of two to four witnesses. The first is always from the husband side. The next is almost always from the wife side and that is to protect her one third dower right under law.

Mortgages: In the 1800s and before, it was traditional when the daughter married, as part of her dowry, for the father to either cover their mortgage or carry a note for his son-in-law. If you can find to who their mortgage payments were made, 70% of the time it will be the bride's father.

laughing and joking as we went along, when the sudden report of a cannon bro't us all to our senses very quick. A part of the guard had taken their station, and the rest of us were going to our posts, when suddenly another report, followed by the whistle of a cannon ball and the short cracking of several rifles, showed that enemies were near. The bugle now sounded "to arms !" and we went into camp, all supposing that an attack had been made on the outside pickets. Our horses were saddled in double quick; we then fell in, under arms, and waited for them to come on. We waited for some minutes, and hearing nothing more the guard were again sent out, the horses ordered to remain saddled and the men to lay on their arms over night. I did not go to sleep on my post, but we were not disturbed during the night, except by the occasional firing by some of the outside pickets, and that was, no doubt, to a great extent without cause. Some of them were almost frightened out of their senses; at all events one of them shot a mule.

The next morning we went on into town. Everything was as quiet as if nothing had happened. The regulars went ahead, and went through the town and among the bushes. Finding a small party of the rascals concealed, they made a charge upon them, wounded one and took several prisoners. It is probable the rebels thought we were made of the same mettle as themselves, and fired the mortar to scare us off. The Major then gave the authorities one hour to bring out the piece, also all Government property that they possessed, else he should burn the town. We ransacked the place, took six bbls. of flour and some other little notions, and in less than two hours were on our way back. Gen. Steel, of Sedalia, had become concerned for our safety, we having been out longer than we expected, and he had sent out a body of infantry and artillery to reinforce us. Last night we got into Sedalia, found our boys had moved their camp into the village, that they were as well as when we left them, and they fairly hopped to see us back. They had heard all sorts of rumors about us, one of which was that we had got into a fight and were all cut to pieces.

We brought back with us somewhere between 40 and 50 prisoners, five or six government wagons, a number of horses and mules, some flour, &c. S_ that altho' we did not have a fight, our trip was any thing but a failure.

G. H. W.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 19th, 1861

Editor Republican: As nearly as a dozen of the Eaton Co. boys are with the First Regiment Michigan Engineers and Mechanics, now in camp at this place, I thought something in your paper occasionally from one of them, of the incident occurring in this regiment, might be acceptable to your readers.

Some of us had been in camp at Marshall two or three months, and others had just entered a day or two before starting, last Tuesday morning. Many of us there fore need to be drilled before we engage in any conflict with the enemy. We left Marshall the 17th very early, but paused long enough before entering the cars to greet many friends and relatives who crowded along the side walk and cars, many of them probably not expecting ever to see us all back safe and sound. But, although we did not get paid off, all were cheerful and glad to be under move at last for "Dixie." All the way, except in the dead of night, we were greeted with salutes from the balconies and massive fronts of city buildings, and from the distant farm houses well nigh out of sight, with the cambric handkerchief, towel, table cloth, hand or whatever the hand contained, by the lady, the farmer, even down to the child not large enough to attend school.

Everything favored us. Our days were days of sunshine and pleasant weather, and the moon made the night almost as good as day for observation. Michigan soil seemed to me very unequal to that of Indiana, and especially that part of it from north of Lafayette to far South of indianapolis. This part of Indiana is so far superior to anything I ever saw for its beautiful slopes varying but slightly from a positive level, and its entire freeness from swamp or swale for scores of miles, that I could not help expressing my views of its magnificence. But Indiana did not furnish so many intellectual, cleanly dressed women, to cheer us on, as did our own Michigan. Louisville however, did; and I must say that its ladies, young and old, can not be any where more that equalled for gracefulness and noble bearing.

At Lafayette were alighted men enough to bring us hot coffee and water. At Indianapolis we paused awhile toward morning, and arrived at Jeffersonville near noon. We ate some bread and meat, shouldered knapsacks, fell into line and marched to the monster ferry-boat. It received all the soldiers on the lower deck, and officers above, and swept across the Ohio to this city in two graceful curves, and we landed upon the "Dixie" soil in good style, our Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel and Major mounted, and presenting a fine appearance to the people here. This morning's Journal gives us credit for presenting a regiment not excelled by any that have passed through.

Arriving in camp a band saluted us with "Hail Columbia." We put up tents after dark and slept on the ground with only a blanket or two between us and the "sacred soil." We are now striking tents to move on. Respectfully,

William L. Clark

Letters from Our Volunteers.
Sedalia, Mo., Dec. 25th,
1861

We returned yesterday from another trip through the State of ten days. I shall not go into detail of our journey, as it would weary your patience with an old story. I will merely say that we, that is Merrill's Horse, a part of Iowa 1st cavalry, and two pieces of artillery, have chased sixteen hundred of the rebels forty-eight hours in succession, with no stoppage, except a few minutes at a time to feed our horses. When we started we were four hours behind, but when we stopped were farther behind than when we started. They may say what they please about the rebels, but they will beat us running, that is certain. However we took about thirty prisoners. One of these undertook to run from the guard during the night and was shot. We next went to Lexington, charged through the city, took a few prisoners, burned two or three ferry boats and came back.

As we were marching one night we ran across one of the pickets of the enemy, who had the audacity to fire upon our Major. The ball had no other effect than to whistle over our heads. The Major returned the compliment with his revolver and sent the rascal to the infernal regions of Pluto in double quick time.

Last Thursday Gen. Pope fell in with a body of secesh, killed fifteen and took between eight and nine hundred prisoners. Only some three hundred escaped.

I don't expect we shall lay here long. I should like to rest a while, but there is no peace to the wicked or rest for the soldier. There will probably be a grand movement of our army before long to chase Price to his hole or out of the State. It is not likely we shall see quarters this winter. There is too much need of our services here to allow much time to rest. This regiment has the name of doing more service than any other in the western department. The very name "Merrill's Horse" has become a terror to the rebels. I expect we shall be kept busy until the close of these troubles. But I hope the time is not very far distant when I shall get a furlough to stay with you all as long as I choose. It seems to me that the chances are favorable for a speedy close of the war. at least I hope so. I do not wish to leave the service until every rebel is wiped from the face of the earth; but God speed the time. A soldier's life is not the one for me. But still I am learning a considerable which will be of advantage. One important item is the beauties of slavery. Slaves flock around our camp like sheep to salt. One night as I was standing picket guard just out of Waverly, seven of Capt. Shelby's (sechesh) negroes ran away about seven miles and came to our camp and begged like dogs to be taken along with us. I told them it was impossible. that the Major would not allow it. They then said they must get back before daylight or their masters would shoot them. We have one runaway slave with us now. He says he would sooner die than go back. He says if I will take him to Michigan he will work for me two years; so if you want a hand just let me now.
