Simeon McCotter

Vermontville Colonist
by
M. J. Baker

Simeon McCotter was the next to the last male survivor of the Vermontville colonists, and was an excellent citizen. Physically he was a stubbed man, short in stature, with a quick movement, a cabinet-maker by trade, and the workman who did all kinds of woodwork for the first settlers.

Mr. McCotter made cradles for newborns and coffins for those who passed from this life. He was the first work and the last for many, young and old, whose bodies lie in the rural cemetery. He was considered the general utility man for all; working on houses and barns; on the schoolhouse; the first sawmill; the academy and the church. He knew how to put things together. How the other colonists would have gotten along without him, or some one else like him, is not clear.

While he owned an outside farm lot - a wild and heavily timbered eighty acres - he always lived in the village, on one of the ten-acre lots which fell to him in the raffle that the colonists cast lots for. He later added three more adjacent lots of the same size.

Born in Benson, Rutland County, Vermont, August 30, 1806, Simeon McCotter came to Vermontville as one of the original colonists and lived there until his death, November 15, 1893. He married Lucy Minerva Leveredge at Vermontville, April 1, 1840. She was born at Camillus, NY, April 20, 1819, and died in Vermontville, Aug. 4, 1895.

Four children were born to Simeon and Lucy McCotter. They were Mary Jennette McCotter, born April 13, 1841. She married Oscar Hadley July 4, 1857. James Howard McCotter, was born January 3, 1845 and in March 1874 he married Florence Baker. He lived on Lawrence Ave. in Charlotte for a few years and then moved to Pontiac, Mich., where he became superintendent of the D. M. Ferry & Company's seed farm, having fitted himself for the position as a student and graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College. Eliza McCotter was born Oct. 20, 1849 and married Fitz Hughes Gage of Olivet, MI. on Oct. 20, 1886. George Samuel McCotter was born May 30, 1851 and married Caroline DePlanta in 1875. They lived at Hudson, MI.

There are many artifacts, including his woodworking tools, housed at the Vermontville Museum. Simeon built one of the first frame homes in Vermontville and is credited with the gingerbread trim that is on the porches and also for the trim on many of the homes in Vermontville. Michigan existed as part of the Northwest territory from its establishment in the ordinance of 1787 to the creation of the Indiana territory in 1800. The peninsula was attached to the new territory after Ohio became a recognized state in the Union.

BOSWORTH: At her home in Chester township-January 8, 1892.
Mrs. Almira Bosworth, wife of Kelly Bosworth, aged _ (?)__ years.

Mrs. Bosworth, whose death occurred January 8, was born in Ohio, February 25, 1830. Her Maiden name was Almina Bark. She was married to Kelly Bosworth in August 1850 and has been his faithful companion for nearly 42 years. Upon their marriage they at once removed to Eaton county, where the husband had already purchased a farm and prepared a home. The woods have been turned into fertile fields, the former cabin has given place to a large residence, and the rude stables have been changed for commodious barns. Mrs. Bosworth has been a faithful companion a loving mother and kind neighbor. Six children have blessed this happy union, 5 boys and one girl. All but one still live. All are grown to industrious manhood. It is a credit to Mrs. Bosworth to have reared such a family.

She was a member of the grange, also of the Daughters of Rebecca. Kind-hearted and charitable by nature, she was constantly doing deeds of love and mercy, and yet she never sought praise for her acts of kindness. She never advertised her charities. Her life was a psalm of love, and her presence was always sunshine. It is certain that the world is better because she has lived. Funeral services were held from her home, by Rev. F. McAlpine on Sunday, January 11, 1892, at one o'clock p.m. Excellent music was rendered by the Universalist choir of Charlotte, under charge of E. H. Bailey. The unusually large attendance, notwithstanding the inextremely cold weather attests the esteem in which Mrs. Bosworth was held. Truly, a noble woman has gone to her reward.

NEWCOMB:

At her home in this city, of heart failure, on Wednesday morning, January 6, 1892, Sarah L. Newcomb, age 42 years.

Although Mrs. Newcomb's health has been very poor for years, her death was unexpected and sudden. She retired in nearly her usual health on the evening preceding her death. Her husband was awake at 11:00 o'clock and gave her medicine at which time she said she was resting easier than for some time but soon after one o'clock he awoke again and found her cold in death. It is a severe blow to Mr. Newcomb especially so because in their daily duties they were, so far as his labors allowed, constant companions. Mrs. Newcomb found special pleasure in copying her husband's drain records and if he has won a reputation for knowing how to lay out a drain according to law, she has proven her ability to record the same in a faultless, easily read handwriting. Mrs. Newcomb leaves besides her husband, a foster daughter to mourn her loss. The funeral was held from the residence on Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. F. O. Dickey officiating, and the remains were laid at rest in the Follett cemetery near their old Bellevue home.

EATON COUNTY QUEST

COULTER:

At his residence on Bostwick avenue in this city on Wednesday, January 6, 1893, Samuel V. Coulter, aged 79 years 7 months.

Mr. Coulter was a Pennsylvanian by birth, but had lived in this city since October, 1814, a period of 47 years. For many years he worked at bridge building and, it is said superintended the first bridge built across the Mississippi river. He celebrated his golden wedding nearly a year ago. His aged wife and five well-to-do children survive him. Mr. Coulter had been a devoted believer in Spiritualism many years prior to his death. The funeral was held Friday at 10:30 a.m., Rev. F. McAlpine officiating.

DICKINSON:

At her home in North Brookfield, on Tuesday afternoon, January 5, 1892, of inflammation of the bowels, Mrs. Carrie King Dickinson, wife of Marvin Dickinson, age 31 years.

Mrs. Dickinson was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.C. King of this city. At an early age she in a remarkable way seemed to realize the importance of her life work and to feel that there is a purpose in life and this she was working out quietly, unostentatiously and nobly in her every day work on the farm. Her death is an irreparable loss to her husband and a family of small children, and a calamity to the neighborhood. The funeral was held Thursday from the Baptist church of this city, Rev. F.O. Dickey, officiating, and the remains placed at rest in Maple Hill cemetery.

SEARLES:

At her residence on South Cochrane avenue, Tuesday evening, January 5, 1892, after a short illness of pleuro-pneumonia, Mrs. Elma Searles, wife of Caleb Searles, aged 58 years.

Mrs. Searles was born in New Baltimore, N.Y., where she was married to Mr. Searles, December 21, 1858. About nineteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Searles settled in Charlotte where they have ever since resided. Mrs. Searles never united with a church but held rather to the principles of her parents who were quakers. She could get good out of any sermon and lived an ideal life, taking Christ as her pattern. The funeral was held Friday at 2 p.m. from the residence, Rev. George D. Lee officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bedell and family of Lansing, were in attendance and are spending the week with Mr. Searles.

STRICKLAND:

After a short illness of one week at her home in Chester on Friday, October 9, 1891, of congestion of the stomach, Mrs. Emily Strickland, wife of Lewis A. Strickland, aged 48 years and 9 months.

She was a daughter of Isaac and Esther J. Williams, and was born upon the farm where she died. She leaves a sorrowing husband and three children to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother. Mrs. Strickland had been a member of the Baptist church for many years and was held in very high esteem wherever known. Her funeral which occurred Friday was very largely attended, Rev. North, of the M.E. Church officiating.

EATON COUNTY QUEST

Rev. Marcus H. Martin, A.M., rector of Grace Episcopal church, is a native of the Green Mountain state. His later boyhood was passed in Troy, N.Y., where he was educated in the common schools. While a merchant's clerk he prepared himself by evening study and such tuition as was at hand for Union college, Schenectady, N.Y. On graduation he received the first classical honor of his class. Taking, then, the principalship of Troy high school, he filled for some years the position with credit, establishing a high reputation for many students to Union, Williams, Harvard and Yale. Later he was made superintendent of the Troy schools and added much to their efficiency, forming and training the first normal class in that city. Resigning, he accepted the professorship of Greek and Latin in the Trenton, N.J., state normal school, with the special charge of the model department. There he fitted many young men for Princeton college, some of whom are now in the Presbyterian ministry. While in Trenton he was ordained to the Episcopal ministry by Bishop Scarborough and thereafter did much Sunday clerical work, but retained his professorship. He established, in Trenton, and conducted on Sundays a large mission school, now as independent church. Wishing greater freedom for ministerial work than was consistent with the duties of his professorship, he resigned and removed to Detroit, Mich., where he conducted, as a private school, a seminary for young ladies, for nine years. During this time he was the associate of Dr. Rufus Clark, of St. Paul's church, and rendered constant clerical

Sunday service. Double duty threatening his health, he decided to drop educational work and devote all his time to the ministry. Accepting a call to Calvary church, Toledo, Ohio, with charge, also, of St. Paul's, Maumee, he removed to the former city. Three and a half years in this field of divided charges, and much riding in all kinds of weather, again threatening health, he sought a lighter field. On joint appointment by Bishop Gillespie, and call of the officers of Grace church, he came, to Charlotte in January last. Rev. Martin, is a man of decided literary tastes, and finds time, outside his profession, for considerable work in that line. When president of the New Jersey State Association of Teachers, and on important educational committees, he rendered good service. Since retirement from school work he has resisted numerous soliciations and fine offers to resume it. His face is, however, steadfastly set to work henceforth in the Master's vineyard. He was born in the ministry eighteen years. He is of Scotch-Irish and English ancestry, and nephew of Wells R. Martin, of Vermontville, well known as one of the pioneers of Eaton county. About twenty-five years ago Mr. Martin united his fortunes with Miss Caroline M. King, daughter of Hon. John King, of New York. Mrs. Martin is of Scotch extraction and a lady of rare ability. She is a graduate of the once famous Emma Willard seminary. Mr. & Mrs. Martin's only living child is Miss Annie Martin who has already won more than a local reputation as an accomplished pianiste.
