Material for Publication:

The Eaton County Quest welcomes manuscripts of Eaton County material for proposed publication. All manuscripts should be sent to: The Editor, P.O. Box 337, Charlotte, MI 48813-0337

The manuscript should be typed on standard-sized paper and have the author's name on each page and numbered. A cover letter, giving permission from the author to publish the material in the Quest, should accompany the manuscript. Restrictions of any kind may not be placed on material to be published.

The Editor welcomes manuscripts on computer disk, in Microsoft Word, Microsoft Works or ASCII text format. Only 3 ½" size disks can be accepted. Manuscripts on disk will not be published without accompanying hardcopy of the data to assure correct transfer of data.

When sending photocopies of original old manuscripts, such as handwritten Bible records, send a typed transcript from which we can work. Writing is much clearer on the original in your possession than on a photocopy. The Editorial staff will make the final decision on material to be published.

Every effort is made to present authentic material, but the Eaton County Genealogical Society cannot be held responsible for the accuracy or the publishing rights of the material furnished by contributors. All material is published with the permission of the contributor.

Dear ECGS Members.

This note is being written with a sad and heavy heart. Although I am not big on pushing politics, I would be remiss to just shrug this incident under the rug like dust. The attack on America has affected all of us in one way or another. We have seen pictures we never expected to see in the U.S. We must all do our part to support our fellow Americans and government leaders in this time of trouble. We must also remember all those who have lost their lives or have been injured in this attack. We must pray for the safety of the volunteers as they work non-stop in search of people trapped. Let us hope that one day peace will be had by all in the world.

Now for society business. ECGS will be starting our regular monthly meetings after our summer break. I do hope everyone had a chance to do some research either around home or while they were traveling.

The Kalamo and Vermontville Township Cemetery books are now completed and will be going to the printers if they haven't already.

The society will be once again sponsoring a bus trip to the Allen County Library in Ft. Wayne, Indiana on Saturday, November 10th. Space is limited to 47 people so get your request in soon. Cost will be $20.

Shirley Hodges has offered to teach a beginning genealogy workshop as a fundraiser for the society. It will be held on Saturday, November 17th. Please pass this along to anyone you know who may be interested in getting started in genealogy or needs a refresher.

I want to thank those who contacted us about helping with some typing projects for the society. I have been a slow in responding due to a family member's illness and trying to complete the cemetery books. Now that both of those issues are not as critical, I will be contacting you. Thanks again.

To those of you that filled out the survey, we want to thank you. It gave us some ideas for things we need to work on as well as ideas of what programs you want to see. We can't promise that we will meet them all this year, but we will certainly try to make a dent.

If you are able to make it to our monthly meetings, we would love to see you. We have some good speakers lined up that hopefully will provide you with some information you need.

Until the next time... be safe and happy researching.

Historical Markers in Eaton County, Michigan

(Cont'd from Quest #42) Submitted by Mary Jean Baker

Underhill Store - Isaac M. Dimond purchased four thousand acres of land here in 1837. In 1850 he built a dam on the Grand River to furnish power for a sawmill and gristmill, platting the village of Dimondale in 1856. This building was constructed that year and is the oldest store in town. Owned at first by Myron Crofts, it was purchased in 1883 by Elias Underhill and taken over by his son, Rufus, in 1900. Vacant since the 1920s, the store was purchased for restoration in 1972.

(This marker is located at 106 Jefferson, Dimondale; Underhill Store. Marker dedicated Sept. 7, 1973)

Austin Blair - Civil War governor Austin Blair (1818-1894) came to Jackson, Michigan, from New York in 1841. In 1842 he moved his law practice to Eaton Rapids. At that time the area was made up mostly of farmers, and Blair was paid for his legal services with produce and firewood. He lived in a frame house that once stood near this site. In 1843, while a resident of this town, he was elected Eaton County clerk. Poverty and the deaths of his infant daughter and his wife led him to resign as county clerk in 1844 and return to Jackson.

SIDE TWO

Austin Blair began his political career in 1842 as Eaton County clerk. In 1846 he was elected to the Michigan House of Representatives. He was selected as Jackson County prosecutor in 1852, and from 1855 to 1856 he served in the state senate. In 1861, Blair became governor of Michigan, a post he held for two terms. While in office he personally raised about $1000,000 to equip the First Michigan Volunteer Infantry Regiment. He represented Michigan as a U.S. congressman from 1867 to 1873 and was a University of Michigan regent from 1882 to 1890.

(This marker is located at 248 East Main Street at the corner of Spicer, Eaton Rapids; Blair, Austin, Home, Information Site. Marker was dedicated February 15, 1984)

Island Park - This island, owned and operated by J. D. McAuliffe from 1872, was hailed as "a shady retreat for pleasure seekers...with a fine collection of animals and a museum of rare specimens." In 1897, Eaton Rapids bought it for a city park. From 1908 to 1929 the Eaton County Battalion of the G.A.R. held its annual encampment at what was then named Grand Army Park. Summer concerts, reunions and picnics brought many here over the years. A group formed in 1973 to save the island from erosion served to refocus attention on this snot

(This marker is located in the Middle of the Grand River, Downtown Eaton Rapids; Island Park. The marker was dedicated July 26, 1974)

Red Ribbon Hall - The Eaton Rapids Reform Club under the leadership of Isaac N. Reynolds, built this temperance hall in 1878. Affiliated with the national Red Ribbon movement, over a thousand local men knotted red ribbons in their lapels after pledging to abstain from all alcoholic beverages, and adopted the motto, "Dare to do right." The building served as a cultural center, and, at the turn of the century, as an opera house. Since 1924 it has been a Masonic Hall. (This marker is located at 314 S. Main Street, Eaton Rapids; Red Ribbon Hall (Masonic Temple Building). The marker was dedicated Nov. 14, 1974)

"The Saratoga of the West" - Eaton Rapids became a popular health resort when mineral water was discovered in 1869. Attracted by advertisements boasting of its curative powers, thousands came for treatment. The water was also bottled and shipped across the country. In 1874, Anderson House was erected on this site as the town's most elegant hotel. The mineral water heyday had passed when it burned in 1911, although a bath continued to operate until 1962.

(This marker is located at 101 S. Main Street, Eaton Rapids; Anderson House. It was dedicated Nov. 14, 1974)

Center Eaton United Methodist Church On November 30, 1878, the local Methodist class purchased land for a church from Benjamin & Catherine Spotts for $25.00. Church men cut and hewed the logs for the building. The Reverend B. E. Paddock dedicated the church on November 10, 1881. Luren D. Dickinson, governor of Michigan from 1939 to 1940, taught Sunday school here both before and during his ensure as governor. From 1918 to 1955 the church sponsored Lulu Tubbs, a missionary in Southern Rhodesia, which became Zimbabwe.

Fitzgerald Park - Migrant Indian tribes led by the famous Chief Okemos called this area "Big Rocks." They came here in early spring to tap the sugar maples. Later, the beauty of the ledges and woods attracted the Grand Ledge Spiritualist Camp Association which, in 1894, established a summer campground and erected the large pavilion which still stands. Thousands of spiritualists came here for summer encampments until the turn of the century. In 1919 the city of Grand Ledge bought the property and named it Riverside Park. The pavilion was used for dances, roller skating and basketball. During World War II, it This park's name housed a factory. commemorates Grand Ledge native Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald who died in office in 1939. The pavilion was refurbished as a summer theater by the Grand Ledge Improvement Association in 1955.

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald Home - Here lived Frank D. Fitzgerald who served his first term as governor from 1935-1936. His second term, starting in January 1939, was cut short by his death in this house in March of that year. Born in Grand Ledge in 1885, Fitzgerald earned wide respect from local citizens. A Republican, he was secretary of state 1930-1934. State chief executive during some tumultuous Depression years. Fitzgerald advocated government reorganization measures including a civil service system for state employees.

SIDE TWO

Governor Fitzgerald acquired this house during his first gubernatorial term. At that time the state did not provide an official mansion; thus Fitzgerald used this home as the governor's residence.

Out of office 1937-1938, he planned his successful re-election campaign from here. Lansing architect Edwyn C. Bowd resigned the residence in 1907. It was built for $18,000. The house was set on a high foundation. The tile roof, massive chimneys and rounded bay windows, are Romanesque style.

Second Island - Graced by the natural beauty of these soaring sandstone ledges, Grand Ledge was once famous for its Seven islands Resort, a recreation area centered on this island from 1870 to 1910. At the turn of the century the ledges made this city one of the most popular resort areas in lower Michigan. Excursion trains brought thousands to enjoy this area which featured steamboat rides, a boat livery, a hotel and vaudeville theater, mineral wells, a roller coaster and fishing. In 1976 the Grand Ledge. Area Bicentennial Commission erected the band pavilion.

(This marker is located at the Second Island, the Grand River, Grand Ledge. It was dedicated April 4, 1978)

Olivet College - On February 24, 1844, the Reverend John J. "Father" Shipherd and thirty-nine followers arrived by ox-cart on this wilderness hilltop, driving their herds before them. They felt God had directed them to this oak grove for the purpose of founding a coeducational Christian college open to students of all races. First chartered as Olivet Institute, the school received its charter as a college in 1859. For over a century it has given a broad liberal arts education, with strong support from the Congregational church. Many alumni have gone forth "Pro Christo et Humanitate."

(This marker is located at Burrage Library, NE corner of College Avenue & Main Street, Olivet. It was dedicated March 19, 1958)

The Potterville United Methodist Church - The Potterville United Methodist Church was organized after the Reverend Hiram Nichols held a revival meeting in Potterville in 1867. The congregation appointed a building committee in 1875 and began work on the church in the spring of 1877. George M. Potter donated the land for the church, which was dedicated on February 3, 1878. The church took its present name after the Methodist Church merged with the Evangelical United Brethren Church in 1968.

SIDE TWO

When constructed in 1877, the church seated three hundred people. Its main entrance was at its southeast corner. From 1920 to 1923 the church was remodeled and enlarged under the guidance of head carpenter John Griffith. Much of the original woodwork on the windows and gables was removed; however, the stained glass windows and the bell were left intact. The church also retained its L-shape, frame structure and high gable roofs.

(This marker is located at 105 North Church Street, NW corner of Vermontville Hwy., Potterville. It was dedicated Feb. 28, 1987)

G. A. R. Hall - The Samuel W. Grinnell Post No. 283 was granted its charter by the Grand Army of the Republic (G.A.R.) on October 6, 1884. The post operated until 1934, at which time it was disbanded. Members built this hall in 1898-1899. Dedicated in October 1899, it contains flags, medals, photographs and other mementos of the Civil War and of the Sunfield veterans of that war. Furniture, ritual equipment and records of this G.A.R. post are also kept here. In 1899 members planted the three maple trees at the front of the property, dedicating them to the memory of Generals Grant, Sheridan and Sherman. The two cannon on either side of the hall were brought to Sunfield by the G.A.R. in 1900.

SIDE TWO

The G.A.R. was founded in 1866 as a veterans association to assist Union veterans and their widows and orphans. The G.A.R. and several of its allied orders have used this hall since its completion in 1899: Samuel W. Grinnell Post No. 283, G.A.R. (1899 to 1934); Woman's Relief Corps No. 62 (1899 to 1925); Samuel W. Grinnell Camp No. 17, Sons of Union veterans, U.S.A., (1918 to 1925); Helen Edwins Tent No. 30, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War (beginning in 1926); and Curtenius Guard Camp No. 17, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War (beginning in 1983). In 1987 the hall was owned by the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War. This marker was dedicated on Memorial Day (May 30) during the Michigan Sesquicentennial.

First Congregational Church - Reverend Sylvester Cochrane, a Congregational minister from Vermont, first conceived of a settlement in Michigan after a visit here in 1835. Returning home he formed a group called the Union Colony, which settled in Vermontville the next year. The colonists were religiously oriented, and one of their stated purposes in settling here was to "remove the moral darkness," which they thought prevaded the West. Church services were first held in a log cabin and later in the academy across the street. The present church was dedicated in 1864. The building strongly resembles certain New England meetinghouses of the late eighteenth century, especially in its roof framing of roughly hewn timbers and in much of the interior woodwork.

(This marker is located at 341 South Main Street at West Main, Vermontville. It was dediced June 27, 1969.)

Opera House - Vermontville Opera House, completed in 1898, is still the main center of community activities. The two-story red brick structure with cut stone foundation, and an off-center tower over the front entrance, was constructed with funds solicited from the township and village. Stage plays, political events, social gatherings and religious services have taken place here. L. Vern Slout and his players, one of Michigan's oldest tent companies gave first and last performances in this opera hall, now used in part as a public library.

(This marker is located at the west side of South Main, between First and Second Streets, Vermontville. It was dedicated January 16, 1976)

Vermontville Academy - In 1836 a group from Vermont known as the Union Colony settled here. The members were determined that their children should receive The Vermontville a good education. Academical Association was formed, constructed this building and opened it for classes in the winter of 1844-1845. Vermontville was advertisied as an ideal location for an academy, since there was little to distract the students from their work. Because most of the colony were Congregationalists, their minister served as the academy teacher. Religious services were held here until 1864 when the church across the street was completed. Town meetings were held in the academy, and in 1853 Vermontville's first general store opened on the around floor.

(This marker is located at North Main and East Main Streets, Vermontville. It was dedicated June 27, 1969)

Vermontville United Methodist Church -A Methodist class was organized in this area in 1845. Early worship services, held in private homes and local schools, were conducted by preachers traveling the Eaton circuit. In 1859 the Michigan Methdoist Conference made Vermontville a separate charge and installed the Reverend Josiah Fowler as its pastor. In 1862 this church was constructed at a site two miles northeast of this location. It was moved here in 1877. After the completion of repairs and renovation, including the addition of a belfry and tower, the church was rededicated on this stie on January 8, 1878. The handsome Victorian-style church with its pointed-arch stained-glass windows is the home of one of the town's oldest religious organization.

(This marker is located at 108 North Main Street, Vermontville. It was dedicated February 26, 1985)

Ever since he received a stroke of paralysis last January he gradually grew weaker until his decease, Mr. Harrington was born in Cornish, Sullivan county, N. H., July 1, 1811. He always followed farming as an occuption and settled in this county in 1864. He was married in 1841 to Miss Welthia Shepherd who, with their four children, Mrs. Roswell Maxon. and Mrs. William Fuller, of this city, and Frank Harrington of Chester, and Mrs. Akens of Linesville, Pa., survive him. Mrs. Southworth had been in delicate health for several years and, since an attack of la grippe in January of last year, had steadily failed and been a great sufferer. Her remarkable devotion to her sister, Mrs. Ida Powers, who died six years ago in much the same way, won for her the lasting love and admiration of all who knew her, and her sublime patience and fortitude during the prolonged period of her intense physical suffering have been the subject of much tender and loving comment by those who witnessed it. Her mother was her constant attendant during the last months of her illness, and no sufferer ever had more devoted and untiring care. The funeral was held from the house yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. F. McAlpine and Rev. A.D. Newton officiating.

Lewis Gardner Men We Know

In the very middle of that beautiful portion of our country's history, known as "the era of good feeling," or, to be more precise, on the 13th of September, 1821, in the township of Murray. Orleans county, New York, there was born a child of the masculine persuasion, who was destined to become a leader of men. His parents may have fondly hoped, in common with most fathers and mothers, that their boy would in time sit in a governor's chair, as indeed he has, but they probably little thought of his being president of the United States. Well he never was but he would just as soon have sat in Cleveland's chair as Begale's had he visited the white house and been invited to sit.

As a leader of men he has probably called more people together to listen to his oratory than has any preacher in the state and there are good people who believe that Lewis Gardner, auctioneer, sells goods so that the purchasers get rare bargains after the "3/4" off" style, and that those who sell through him realize a nice profit on the original investment. At the age of thirteen, while Michigan was a territory, he settled with his parents in Washtenaw county and two years later at Adrian where he was apprenticed to a blacksmith and worked in a shop for three years. During this time his mother died and the family scattered, he going to Ohio an finding employment in a livery stable.

After a seven years residence in this randeavous of politicians, during which time he was married to Miss House Hines, he moved to Illinois and ran a packet boat for one season. He next followed in grocery business successfully at Huron, Ohio, and Union City and Charlotte, Michigan. He came to Charlotte in 1856 and began to sell groceries in the same building be now occupies as a residence. Three years afterward he sold his stock of groceries and bought a stock of dry good at Hastings which he brought to this city and closed out soon at a neat profit. This closed his mercantile career until last year when he opened a second-hand supply store on Lawrence avenue where his customers are furnished with any article from a threshing machine to a hairpin.

Mr. Gardner was several times elected city constable, was under sheriff of Eaton county in 1883-4 and deputy United States marshal during the Cleveland administration. During his term as under sheriff he opened the first session of court ever held in the new court house. He is a democrat of democrats and if he has any other failings it does not consist in be uncharitable to his fellow men. No one ever turned away hungry from his door and his latchstring pulls just as easily for the beggar as for the nabob. He scorns deceit and emphasizes his scorn sometimes in apparently harsh words, but there are so-called christian people in this city who don't remember the sick and poor with a basket of substantials as often as does the subject of this sketch. Mr. Gardner's two sons, all his sisters and his only brother live in or conveniently near to the city and, as he says, he can blow his horn and organize a family reunion at a half hour's notice, at any time

Biography of the Oldest Twins in the United States, aged 91 years.

Betsey Wood and Lucy Wixom were twins, born October 6, 1799, (the year of George Washington's death, (at Plainfield, Cheshire (now Sullivan) county, N.H. Their father, Samuel Clark, came from England about 1750, when 5 years old and settled in Boston. He went into the war of the Revolution, and served as commissary all through. His recollections of the war and men of note was vivid, and he often related anecdotes of the war, and lived it all over again in telling it to his children. I have often heard my mother tell men from all over the country coming to him for copies of his papers, to help them get their pensions. He was a splendid penman, and a letter written at 84 years of age still shows his hand writing as even and fine.

The twins were of a family of twelve children, eight older and two younger than they; they have all gone to their long home. The names of the twelve children in their order were as follows: Samuel, Harry, Sarah, Willard, Mary, Jack , Fanny, Prudence, Lucy, Betsey, Lura and Liarriet. Lucy was married to Constantine Wood, November 1, 1819 and Betsey to his half-brother---Jacob Wood, three months later, February 2, 1820, on their father's farm in New Hampshire, and came west soon after. They stopped first for a few years near Rochester, N.Y., and afterwards settled near each other in Oakland county, this state, within two years after the first tree was cut in that vicinity. Lucy's first husband died about eight years after, leaving her with four little children, two of whom---Mrs. Sarah W. Crawford, of Lansing, and Reuben Wood, of Grand Ledge, are still living. She then lived a widow about seven years, when she married Abijah C. Wixom, by whom she had three children, only one of whom survives-- Willard C. Wixom, after whom Wixom station was named, Oakland county, where he and his mother have since lived. Her last husband died more than 30 years ago. Constantine Wood was three years older than Jacob; their father was twice married, and had sixteen children. Jacob Wood and family settled near Grand Ledge in December, 1844, where he died sixteen years ago, at the age of 81, leaving his widow and four children. These two sisters were converted to Christianity at the same time when sixteen years of age, and had been members of the Baptist faith for three fourths of a century. They were baptised by Rev. Uriel Hendrick, and united with a church of 300 members. they lived in the faith all the rest of their lives, and died triumphant. Betsey Wood died January 27, 1891, just two weeks difference in the home going, my mother preceding her loved mate (as they always called each other) by just 14 days. My mother died before 4 o'clock in the morning. that morning aunty said, "Betsey is dead: don't try to keep it from me, for she was with me last night." They did not know it themselves, as our telegram did not reach them until near noon. she bore it well for a time, saying it would not be long until she should see her again. After a time she broke down and wept and mourned: soon she was taken with a heavy chill and failed rapidly and died. She said she did not want to live longer, and her wish was granted.

Mr. Baker and myself attended the funeral at Wixon and it seemed like my own mother's face in the casket so alike were they,--casket, flowers, everything, as far as possible, was like that of her mate, the funeral was held at the church, that all her old neighbors and friends might be present. After a fine sermon by her pastor a grandson of hers--Chas. A. Crawford, stepped out from among the mourners, and after asking pardon for deviating from the usual custom, with trembling voice, He spoke of her gentle, loving life and our love for her and of the two dear sisters beginning the new life together. How happy they were and how glad we are that they are free from pain and at rest. There was nothing remarkable about their lives, each had their trials, but for their sorrows each found their solace in a glad triumphant faith which went with them down to the silent river. Their faces were alike, their lives were alike, and their last sickness alike; each had a day of happiest trust, and talked to all with the present faith and joy then each sank gradually until the release fame. Through all their lives their love for God and faith in his ways were sure and steadfast. Nettie Baker in Grand Ledge Independent.

History of Mulliken

Printed by permission Received from Robert Haigh

The town of Mulliken was plotted in 1887 by T.E. Potter on ground purchased from Aaron French and Oscar Crane. The North Street Cryderman Addition was a part of the former Wm. Cryderman farm, who was the first settler in Roxand Township. The Peabody Addition consists of all the lots west of Charlotte Street taken from the Sylvanus Peabody farm. It was incorporated as a village in 1903.

The first two families to locate here in 1887 were Harris Jones and Oscar Crane. Mr. Jones opened a sawmill. He also built the brick house now occupied by the Charles Cotton family (253 Potter Street). Oscar Crane started a grocery store the same year on the site of the Schavey Sales Co., Building.

One half of the building now occupied by Harry Zimmerman (141 Main) was a general store started by Wm. Elder in 1887. the other half was a furniture store and undertaking parlors run by Back and Dildine.

E.L. Merritt rented the Frank Doolittle store to Holiday and Crane as a general store. There Rameys ((Post Office) Pool Room is today, a hardware and farm machinery store was operated by John J. Hill. Another hardware store was started by A.H. Cogswell; sold to B.J. Whipley and about 1891 was sold to Charles Groves for a grocery. E.A. VanAntwerp had the same store later. Ora Coats moved the building to M-43 (at that time M-39) and used it for a garage.

The Masonic Temple was begun as a drug store by R.I. Whelpley about 1891. The I.O.O.F. and Rebecca Hall was once a boot and shoe store. Butter and Glassbrook operated a blacksmith and wagon shop where the Holland home and oil station are today.

A.E. Lawrence, the first railroad operator of the original railroad, was also the first postmaster. The second postmaster, appointed under the Harrison administration, was Walter D. Davis who was succeeded by A.R. Merritt. He held the office until 1945.

About 1889 Dr. Randall, and later Dr. Pane, opened offices and practiced here. In 1900 Dr. C.H. Peabody built and practiced in the brick building now the telephone office. The first bank located in the Reed and Bera hardware store. Its new site was the present Roxand Township Library.

Among the first elevator operators were: Will Urie, Albert Seabring, F.A. Whelpley, Wilcox and Sanborn, Henry Burroughs and A.E. Lawrence.

The Mulliken Hotel was built in 1889 by T.E. Potter and rented to Tom Wilson. Later it was sold to L.D. Fisher who operated a livery barn in connection with it.

Two newspapers once published here were the Mulliken Express--edited by Filo Rodgers and the Mulliken News-Edited by Grant Jacobs and published by W.J. Fish who later bought the paper and published it alone many years.

In 1888 Rev. Wellar removed the first shovel full of dirt which began the Mulliken United Brethren Church and adjacent parsonage. The church was sold to the Congregation Society first, and later to the Methodists. The parsonage was rented for a time and then sold to R.M. Reed. It was occupied by the W.A. Barker Funeral Home and then sold to the United Methodist Church for an Education building and Parsonage.

Letters From Our Volunteers.
Camp Prentiss, Pittsburg Tenn.
12th Reg't Mich. Inf. Apr. 18, 1862

Friend Saunders:—I wrote you last week giving an account of the battle here. Since that time I have read several accounts of the battle in different papers, and I can assure you that the account I sent you is far more correct than any of them, as far as it goes. I was in it from the very first skirmish, and consequently happen to know something about it from personal observation. I stated that the enemy advanced on us in three solid lines. This was as I saw it; but our prisoners tell me that they were five lines deep. Two of the lines were back in a ravine.

I believe I informed you that Col. Peabody--acting Brigadier General commanding our brigade--was killed. deserved his fate. When I say that he was so drunk as to be totally unfit for duty, I say what I know from positive knowledge. He commenced drinking as early as three o'clock on Sunday morning and drank draught after draught of some intoxicating liquor, while I was standing at the door of his tent. By the time he got into action he was so drunk as to be perfectly foolhardy. He rode up and faced the enemy's lines, and then sat still on his horse, allowing them to shoot at him time after time, wounding him in several places, till at last the brought him from his horse a corpse. The sooner such men cease to command our army, the hetter

I expect Gen. Prentiss' division will be divided up and attached to other divisions. the Mich. 12th will probably be attached to Gen. Hurlburt's division. The Mich.13th is here, and belongs to Gen. Wood's division. they did not arrive till the fight was over. The fusileer Regt. is also here--all except two companies.

the loss of our Regt. sustained in the late battle is as follows: Killed 26; wounded 91 missing 97. Total 214. many of the wounded were taken prisoners on Sunday, and were carried South.

If the battle had not been fought in the woods, the slaughter would have exceeded anything known in modern history. Every tree is filled with bullets, and thousands of them are gashed and mangled with cannon balls and shells. Many trees were cut completely off; others have deep gorges in their sides; and others show where the balls passed completely through their center. When our Regt. began to fall back, the boys got behind trees and contested the ground sharply. If they had not done so they would have been terribly slaughtered. As it was, the exposed portions of their bodies were frequently hit. One of our men was killed by a cannon ball which just grazed the tree that he was behind, taking off his arm close to the shoulder. A Captain, standing behind a tree near me was shot through the arm while extending it to give a command. I also saw several of our boys drop while in the act of firing from behind trees. Oh, how can I record to you the scenes of those two eventful days! The very thought fills my mind with an indescribable horror. groans of the wounded and dying--some with bowels gushing out, others with brains protruding, or eyes bursting from their sockets from shots which passed just beneath them; and others with arms and leas mangled and torn. I saw one man who was standing near me, shot clean through the body from side to side in the region of the loins, with a small cannon ball. His groans and cries were awful.

Excuse me from a further recital; I cannot go on with it. God grant that I may never see the like again. I hope the war will soon end. My hatred to that institution which causes all these horrors, grows apace. Soon may it perish and naught-but freedom reign in this fair land.

Yours most truly, L.O.S.

New Madrid, in my Wagon, April 17, 1862

Friend Saunders:—Dear Sir, since I last wrote you from this place, events have so crowded upon each other, I scarcely know where to begin in attempting to give your readers a clear understanding of them. Another important victory has crowned the Federal arms. A victory which is less iin its immediate and superficial aspect than in the moral effect which the intelligence will produce upon both the contending parties. And the influence which it will exert in hastening the end of the rebellion may well be styled a great one. Yet it is a little curious to consider that the event so long and anxiously anticipated, should at last have been brought about by very different means from those on which we had depended for success, and at an hour when few looked for its attainment. In looking over the matter, it is a little difficult at first glimpse to classify accurately the different agencies which have co-operated to produce success, and assign to each its due share of credit. It was suppose, generally known, equally to our own public and to the enemy, that the fleet which Col. Bissell was endeavoring to conduct through the bayou, comprised two to three steamers and several large coal barges, or flatboats; but I think few persons were aware of the use to which it was designed to apply these latter. Two of the longest barges were selected, strength-ened and divided by bulkheads into several water-tight compartments, as in the best modern war vessels. They were then packed full of tight empty barrels, to serve as floats, and lessen the danger of sinking in case the boats should be pierced by the enemy's shot. On the deck of each was mounted four large siege guns. With the assistance of these and our batteries opposite, it was hoped the enemy's guns might be disabled, and the army enabled to cross. Of course as the guns were placed upon the open deck, without shelter of any kind, those engaged in working them would be exposed to great danger; not only from the heavy guns of the enemy protected behind strong earth-works, but also from rifle-men stationed along the bank. But in spite of the manifest peril, the crews of the vessels had been selected, and but for the opportune arrival of the gunboats, the crossing would have been effected without them

After the batteries were deserted, and just as the gunboat rounded to, to send her small boat ashore, a man with a long rifle in his hand stepped out from behind a tree not a hundred yards from her, and deliberately fired among the men on her deck, fortunately hitting on one. So totally unexpected was the apparition, that every one was taken by surprise, and before a gun could be raised to return his fire, he was gone; in a moment however, he again reappeared, fired, and dodged behind the tree just in time to escaped a shower of bullets hurled at his hiding-place by the riflemen on deck. After an interval sufficiently long to reload, he again appeared; fired, and disappeared; again escaping a volley from the indignant riflemen. A 32 pounder was now trained upon the tree behind which he had sheltered himself; the ball passed entirely through, almost shattering the trunk; yet a moment afterward the presevering rifleman again stepped out delivered his fire, and retreated; having again reloaded, he again showed himself, and was greeted with another shower of bullets, one of which appeared to be effective, for he dropped his rifle and started for the woods, hobbling as if severely wounded. So much impressed, however, were the gunboat men by his daring, that they refrained from firing while he was in open sight, and he reached the woods in safety.

Nearing Tiptonville about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, suddenly the column halted. Before many minutes, however, it was generally known that a messenger brought an offer of surrender for the entire body of rebels who had been stationed at the different points on the peninsula, most of whom were now collected at Tiptonville. But little time was required to arrange the terms of surrender; the only terms our General would offer, were those that Gen. Grant prescribed at Fort Donelson--immediate and unconditional surrender--and with the gunboats staring them in the face, and a powerful army in their rear, there was no choice but to accept them.. I cannot speak vet advisedly, as fresh arrivals of both person and property, are constantly being reported; having been discovered at some house or hiding place in the adjacent woods.

ONEDIA TOWNSHIP

By Mary Jean Baker

"AN EARLY SETTLEMENT"

The second purchaser of land, from the government, in Eaton County, was H. Mason. The land was in section 2 of Oneida, which included the north half of the city of Grand Ledge, the islands, and the ledges.

Four years later Mr. Mason sold the land for taxes.

Mr. John Strange was one of the first settlers in the Oneida area, followed by his brother, George Strange, and Peter M. Kent/Kind. On the same day that the above named arrived, October 6, 1836, they met in the forest, six men from Canada who selected land which became the Canada Settlement.

The first actual settler was Solomon Russell. The others purchased land, but hadn't moved yet. Mr. Russell cut his road ten miles through the forest and along with his wife and small children moved into a shanty in two feet of snow during the winter of 1837. Later he hired two men, Robert Rix & Wm. Henry who also became settlers.

Solomon Russell came to Eaton County by ox team from Orleans County, New York through Canada and Oakland, Shiawassee and Clinton Counties. His brother, William Russell became the first grocer in Grand Ledge. Their nephews also were early settlers.

The second settler was Samuel Preston who came from the south through Jackson and Springport and who thought he was alone in this limitless forest in Eaton County.

By the 4th of March, 1837, while Martin Van Buren was taking oath of office in Washington, Samuel Preston and family "settled" in a home without floor, door, or window. Blankets were hung and they slept in assumed safety.

The first teacher in Oneida was Abigail Billings who later married Jason Nichols.. The second teacher was Emma O. Sprague.

John Stanley was credited as the third settler. By 1844 Eric Sutherland arrived with his large family from New York. His children's names all started with the letter E.

Other names associated with Oneida and the Grand Ledge areas were: T.W. Nichols, G.W. Nichols, Hirman Nichols, John Wesley, Truman Johnson, Orange Johnson, Smith Johnson, Morris Johnson, Washington Jones, Charles Jones, Simeon Jones, Bradford Jones (father of J.V. Jones, local renown teacher). The Johnson and Jones' started the early settlement in northwest Oneida known as Johnson Settlement.

More familiar area names included: Philander Parmenter (was accidentally shot and killed while hunting deer), George W. Jones, L.H. Ion, Peter Cole, Peter Blasier, Van Alstine, Ambrose Preston, Henry Earl, Benjamin Carr, Rufas Lovel, Lucius Benson, Dr. Lamb, Hixon, Eddy, Bailey, Henry A. Trench, Reuben Wood, Edmund Lamson, Abram Smith, Nathan Allen, A. Hayden, John Slater, Erastus Fisher.

George Jones, Ephriam Stockwell and Robert Starks.

When Grand Ledge was becoming a village it was said "Nature had name it--the only ledge upon the Grand (River)". The original town of Grand Ledge was laid out October 28, 1853, and the village incorporated by act of legislature approved April 8, 1871.

The Township of Oneida was organized by act of legislature, approved March 6, 1838, to include the northeast one-fourth of Eaton County. On March 9, 1843, this was divided and Delta and Windsor was formed. A year later the township again divided the Benton created, first called Tom Benton for the distinguished U.S. Senator.

In 1844, there were 53 resident taxpayers in Oneida.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL 8 OFFICE, Datauit, Date 1, 1802.

To the Clark of the County of Och 518/

This list has been compiled and is forwarded to you, under instructions contained in a Joint Resolution of the Legislators of Nichigan, approved January 17, 1862. The delay in procuring returns from the Regiments in the field, together with a desire to add to the list the manes of volunteers emisting in Regiments which have been materied into service during the fall mounts, necessarily deferred the completion of the record beyond the time originally contemplated Information concerning the residence of the volunteers whose names are given, as well as that in regard to their being material or summarized, is board (with the exceptions hereafter noted,) upon apecial returns to this Department, verified by the commanism.

The details of consulties are derived from the same special returns, and from the regular "Monthly Returns" of Regiments. Although noted on official authority, there may be occasional errors, an event without the record of described, as strangelers on a march, or after an engagement, and disabled sublices absent without the knowledge of their effects, are sometimes, under the right rules of the service, accounted for as describes where no other information concerning them can be

The special returns which have been referred to as showing the residence of solunteers, are wanting in the cases of Commony B, First Infantry; Companies A, B, C and Q, Ninth Infantry; First, Fourth and Fifth Batteries; and Willet's Sharpshoulers. The place of collaboration is a shown by the moster rolls, in given as the residence of the men in these companies. Except in a very few instances, casualties reported since the 3-th of September, have not been entered on these lists. It was necessary to adopt a uniform period at which the record should case, and a later date could not asfely be fixed. These lists include the Infantry Regiments, from the First to the Eventy-Sixth inclusive; the Cavalry, from the First to the Bixth Inclusive; the First Mechanics and Engineers; the two Michigan companies in the "Merrill Mome"; the Batteries, First to Ninth Inclusive; all the Michigan Sharpshoulers (six Companies) must be active acrice; McDermett's Company in the Nulligian (III). Regiment; and the "Stanton Goard," collisted to mare robed prisoners at Macking—now dislanded. The First Regiment of Three Months' colunteers was unstered out of service before these books were contemplated, and left no record of the residence of those connected with it. The Eventy-Seysoth and Twenty-Eighth Infantry, Reventh. Eighth and Ninth Cavalry, First Storpshoulers, and the Tenth and Eleventh Batteries, yet Incomplete and consider in the Sext, together with the Recruits which have joined Regiments in the field since July 1st, 1862, will be included, should the present system continue, in future lists similar in character to this.

The entire number of names which have been classified under the Resolution of the Legislature, and which are now sent in acquirate lists to the averal countries in the State, is 36,150. The men in each company and regiment are classed together.

It can hardly be necessary to impress upon the country officers who are under the custodians of these books, the importance of their preservation. This is not only due to the brate may whose names are enrolled in them, but should be a natter of pride on the part of its country. Fifty years house, the public records will contain no more interesting memorials of the present age than are herewith entrusted to your anfe-keeping.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant.
